popular pastime amongst a large number of our male population, the rinks being run to their full capacity every afternoon and night. We wonder if the good housewife is missing her brooms these days. Scoop her up, boys!

An exhibition game of hockey was played on the Didsbury rink on New Year's day between Didsbury and Olds, resulting in a score of 9-1 in favor of the home team.
It is to be hoped for the good of the game that some of the local boys will conduct themselves a little more gentlemanly in the future. The visitors were a gentlemanly lot and nothing spills sport for the onlookers so much as rough play.

HEAR WHY WE SPEAK FOR Zam-Buk

THE GREAT HERBAL BALM

INJURED FOOT CURED.

"I speak for Zam-Buk because it cured me of a terribly bad sprain," says Mrs. Alice B. May, 180 King St., St. Catharines, Ontario. She adds: "The injury was caused by a wagon wheel, and the sore was on my right foot. It was so painful that I fainted away. In spite of treatment, the wound got no better and the foot became more and more swollen until it was twice the size of a sixpence. The flesh was terribly bruised and blackened and it was quite impossible for me to walk. I was advised to go to a doctor, but brought my box of Zam-Buk. This was applied to the foot and it was surprising how soon I found relief from the swelling. The sprain was cured and Zam-Buk was obtained and I persevered in using this balm alone. In a couple of days the swelling had gone down considerably, the pain subsided, the foot became less distinct and the pain was banished. In four days I could go about as usual; the broken leg and injured foot had been thoroughly cured by the timely use of Zam-Buk."

Possible Explanation

Roderick—The astronomers report that there is a great disturbance at the pole on the planet Mars. Wonder what caused it?

Van Albert—H'm! Maybe two explorers discovered it at the same time.

"The White Barks says marriage is a failure."

"Was in his case. She married the other fellow."

Pain Flees Before It.—There is more virtue in a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil as a subdolus of pain than in gallons of other medicaments. The oil is sold in this country at a few households throughout the country where it cannot be found. Thirty years of use has familiarized the people with it, and made it a household medicine throughout the western world.

"I'm sure I don't know why they call it Electric Oil. The Palms. Do you? I've never seen a palm any place near the place."

"You'll see them before you go. It's a pleasant little surprise the waiters keep for the guests on the last day of their stay!"—Puck.

Nature makes the cures after all.

Now and then she gets into a tight place and needs helping out.

Things get started in the wrong direction.

Something is needed to check disease and start the system in the right direction toward health.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with hypophosphites can do just this.

It strengthens the nerves, feeds famished tissues, and makes rich blood.

Did you ever ask yourself:

"How is it that Zam-Buk is so popular?" It is because it is superior and different to other salves. Contract them! Most salves are nine-tenths animal oil or fat. Zam-Buk hasn't a trace of animal oil in it. Most salves contain mineral coloring matter. Zam-Buk is absolutely without! Many salves contain poisonous astringents. Zam-Buk doesn't.

Zam-Buk is actually more powerfully anti-puric than crude carbolic acid. Yet it stops instead of causing pain and smarting when put on a wound.

It heals more quickly than any known salve, abeases a, aches, aches, a bad aching, scalp sores, chaps and all skin injuries and diseases. All upright, sensible men at 50c a box. Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Send 10c stamp for trial box.

COUGHED ALL NIGHT

Till This Recipe Was Tried. Cure

Followed in 3 Hours.

A prominent medical man, who suffered from a severe cough and cold on the lungs, often being kept awake all night, and weakened by loss of sleep.

He had suffered a simple formula which will cure any cough in five hours by the clock.

It is a laxative tonic cough syrup which can be made at home by any housewife and the best preparation for that purpose is Parmelle's Vegetable Pills.

General use for years has won them a leading place in medicine. A trial will attest their value.

There Are Others

A big-hearted Irish politician in a western city had just left a theatre

one night when he was approached by a beggar, who said:

"Your honour is very bright, benevolent face!" A little chirky, sir, for a poor crinole."

The politician gave the man some Emily—"Why are you waving your right hand?"

Angelina—"Since papa has forbidden Tom the house we have arranged a code of signals."

Emily—"What is it?"

Angelina, who had been waving his hundredfold five times, that means

"You love me?" and when I wave frantically in reply, it means "Yes."

Emily—"And how do you ask other questions?"

Angelina—"We don't. That's the whole code."

The Pill That Leads Them. All

Pills are the most portable and compact of all medicines, and when easy to take are the most acceptable of preparations. But they must attest to their quality to be popular.

Minard's Liniment is the most popular of all pills they must fully meet all requirements. Accurately compounded and composed of ingredients proven to be effective in regulating the digestive organs, there is no surer medicine to be had anywhere.

After some discussion it was decided to strike Mr. Newton by the month at this rate and to have him repair work for the town as well as the scavenger work.

MALCOLM KIRK

CHAPTER X.

DOROTHY PROVES HERSELF A HELPER.

Next Day Malcolm Kirk had the mail and a package of grain from Philip Barton to put in "The Forks." He had recovered sufficiently to be moved, and Malcolm borrowed a spring wagon and placed him in it comfortably. He complained of feeling queer in his back and the side. Mr. Kirk said, "I don't think that it would be at all unexpedited if Barton should be arrested. In fact, Mr. Kirk, my examination makes it almost certain that the boy will probably never recover so as to use the lower part of his body. It seems probable that the wheels of the hay wagon passed over him after he fell out."

The prairie was one vast burned stretch of plain, with the road gray and distinct through it. Philip Barton lay back on the cot that had been arranged for him. He was pale and listless, at Malcolm with a white, strained face as he drove slowly along over the smooth, elastic prairie road.

At first Malcolm drove on silently. The boy seemed to be quite comforted by the silence. After a mile or two the first two miles hardly a word was spoken. Then Malcolm stopped the horses and bent down to arrange some part of the cot. When he had finished and gathered up the lines to go on again, young Barton spoke.

"You were one of the men that found me and brought me into the town, Mr. Kirk?" The boy had asked it twice before.

"Yes," replied Malcolm, smiling. "You can't imagine what a great joy it was to me when we found you."

"A carver was the other man?"

"Yes."

"That seems queer to me. How did he happen to go with you?"

"Well, I don't know exactly. He seemed eager to go."

"Was he not been drinking?"

The question came with evident pain.

"Yes. I think he had," replied Malcolm frankly. "But he was sober enough when we found you."

There was silence, and Malcolm gazed up the long again and again. The town was very quiet, and there was a great cloud coming up in the south west which promised rain before night.

"It was a great thing for you to do," said Philip slowly. "I'll never forget it, Mr. Kirk."

"It was a very little thing, my boy, compared with what was done for me," said Malcolm gravely.

"What was that?"

"I was lost once in a great wilderness and surrounded with wild beasts. I was sick and starving and unable to move. The cold was intense, and every minute added to my danger. Just when I had given myself up as lost and the wild beasts had gathered around me in the growing darkness a friend suddenly appeared. He saved me, but in doing it he lost his own life. That is a good deal more than I did for you."

Philip had listened intently. But something in Malcolm's manner kept him silent.

"That wilderness where I was lost," continued Malcolm softly as his eyes before he entered the seminary came back to him, "was the wilderness of sin, and the wild beasts were my passions, and the friend who saved me was Jesus Christ, the Saviour of the world, who gave himself a ransom for many."

There was not a particle of cant or attempt at preaching in what Malcolm had said. It was so simple, so natural, that the boy on the cot hardly realized at first what the minister had said.

With a smile and a nod of the head, Malcolm had spoken of his own conversion. He closed his eyes, and his face twitched under his emotion. When he looked up again, Malcolm had turned and was looking down at him.

"Do you mind if we pray here?" said Malcolm.

Philip moved his head, and in his eyes a look of wonderment grew. Malcolm stopped the horses. The prairie was wide and desolate and black, not a sign of life to be seen in the atmosphere, and the sun sank low in the west. All the town lay distinct in the rear distance. And somehow it seemed as if Kirk spoke to God close by. He sat with his hands on his knees and looked out into the line of the horizon.

"I never in heaven," he said, "we do not know what it is when we die. Lord, come to this earth and live and suffered and died, but we know enough to feel sure that love for us was what made him do it—love for sinners. We are always asking something. Father, but what we want now is what that dost want. Save another life—this one here that is in so much need. His body has been saved for a little while from physical death. Save his life for all time, from eternal loss. His mother is praying for him. All heaven is anxious for his salvation. If thou wilt show us what more we can do, dear Lord, we will do it. Forgive us, for we cannot forgive our sins or keep him from them. Thou canst do it if he will let thee. For the great love of Jesus to us we give thee all we have, for thine is the kingdom, and that is all we have."

He gathered on the lines and went slowly on, and for the next mile not a word was said. Then Malcolm, hearing the boy move to change his position a little, turned and looked down at him. "You believe that, Mr. Kirk?" he said, with a smile his quivered.

"What?"

"That all heaven is anxious for my salvation?"

"Why not? The book says there is joy in heaven over one sinner that repents. Why shouldn't heaven be anxious to have me?"

"I don't know, but—"

Royton News

Quite a number took in the Xmas tree at Bethel, all reported a good time.

Mr. Vanloo lost a valuable colt this week.

There is a good opening for some enterprising man to start a brewery at Royton, being centrally located between Three Hills and Red Deer. It would command a large patronage.

Mr. S. Kitchen is going to build a new house.

A little girl arrived at the home of H. L. LaRoy.

Chas. Dorothy is hauling his hay for P. Burns camp, they are feeding 500 head.

Neapolis

The Christmas entertainment conducted by Bethel Union on Sunday night attracted a large crowd. The program was a success and enjoyed by all. The tree and Santa Claus delighted the children. Everyone was given a treat.

Jack Metcalf gave a stag dinner to several of his friends Christmas Day.

Mr. Bentz and family of Olds visited at Toyner ranch two days last week.

Andy Smith visited Neapolis friends for the past month, but Andy worries himself poor so we sent him back to the Golden West.

Mr. Bates of Didsbury recognized the "Singing School" class last Wednesday night, this makes Mr. Bates second year here. Neapolis will some day furnish a star before the foot light.

NEAPOLIS W. C. T. U. NOTES

The next meeting of W. C. T. U. will be held at the home of Mrs. Wiltse, Thursday afternoon, Jan. 13.

The mothers meeting conducted by Mrs. Burns was held at the home of our president. The meeting was interesting and helpful. Mrs. Wiltse gave a very efficient paper entitled, "The Child in the home".

A late feature was the parlor meeting at Mrs. Burns. A good social time is reported.

Does Not Like Re-solution

Mr. Editor:

You kindly grant me a little space in your valuable paper I should like to present the view of our residents regarding a resolution passed by the Alberta Local Improvement District Association, recently in session at Strathcona, viz:

"Resolved that the convention of Local Improvement Districts recommend that arrangements be made whereby a surtax of not less than two cents per acre can be charged on all lands held by non residents or speculators, such surtax to be used for permanent road improvement".

I hold that such a resolution in addition to the fact that the unclaimed land in Alberta is unique and confidential and will work a detriment to Alberta instead of a benefit. I am a non-resident and own 160 acres in Townships 43 19 and 43 20 and pay from $100 to $120 per acre. The G.A.R. have assurred us a line through there I have started to break my land this year and will continue to improve the balance as fast as money and men can do it, and as a non-resident I will probably spend more on my land than a resident would. Many local residents who might succeed in becoming owners of my land through a forced sale because of a confidatory tax law.

Every improved acre is of equal value to Alberta whether improved by a non-resident or a resident. The local resident farmer in Alberta is more or less of a speculator as much as a non-resident by owning and holding acreage not actually under cultivation.

Every non-resident owning land in Alberta is worth more to our country than any other non-resident and he is an everlasting "bonfire" for Alberta and thereby assists materially in getting actual settlers into your country, which you need.

Under the present system of taxing land in Alberta, the tax paid for the land is proportional to its value or potentiality, the local farmer, by the latter being exempt on all stock and buildings. If a surtax is levied on land owned by non-residents it should at least be limited to only those non-residents and speculators who do not grow crops, build houses, etc., and minimum improvements required should be to cultivate not less than one-tenth or one-eighth of their holdings, although I am firmly of the opinion that such a tax requirement which will force away from you outsiders who are interested in your country will work a much greater harm to you than the tax can benefit you.

Thanking you, I remain, Yours truly,

A Popular Wedding

Wedding bells as well as Christmas bells were ringing on Christmas day in Didsbury, the contracting parties being two well known young Didsbury people in the persons of Miss Margaret, one of the teachers of the Didsbury School, and Mr. and Mrs. John D. Marshall, of Didsbury but sons of Calgary.

The ceremony took place at the residence of Miss M. A. Ferguson, and was conducted by Rev. Mr. Marshall, Presbyterian minister. The bride was dressed in white, the groom in black, very charming couple indeed. The wedding was a quiet one both the bride and the groom being amateur. After the ceremony the party retired to the residence of Mrs. Andrew Weier where an elegant luncheon was provided.

The guests numbered Mr. and Mrs. Sam C. Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hether, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross, Miss Nichol, Miss Freeman, Miss Es. Fox, Miss Smith, Mr. Lavers and Mr. Vogel.

The happy couple left on the afternoon train for Staympton, Sask., to spend a week-end there.

The second and third number of useful and costly presents, including a handsome set of silverware from the congregation and Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian church and the school principals in their room at the school a handsome fruit dish.

The party will reside in Calgary in the future.

Mrs. Weier will be greatly missed both in religious and social circles of the town where she has been resident for the last six years. She was an active member of the Presbyterian church and a member called upon to help in any undertaking for the welfare of the town was always a willing worker, and her services here will be greatly missed.

All good will goes to the Didsbury couple from their friends in Didsbury.

A Properous Firm

The following is taken from a recent issue of a Lethbridge paper and as most of our readers know the men comprising this firm who were former business men of Lethbridge and Timmins, Messrs. Noah B. Good and Son, have come up to the same to let the public know how they are prospering and also to wish them every success in their business.

"A very important change in business has taken place in Lethbridge, brought about by the Good Co. who sell there ice cream fixtures to the Lethbridge Candy Co. who are going to conduct a first class ice cream business in what was formerly used by J. J. Johnston as a drug store. The Good Co. have found a good market for their confectionery department owing to their increased trade in that line. Their grocery department is going to be extended on the north side of the building, the full of the store which is 75 feet long, and the south side of store, with the exception of the confectionery department will be used as a delicatessen and provision department, which will be something entirely new for this part of the country, only a few of the larger cities at present being favored with such comodities. In the spring there is to be fifty feet added on the rear of the building, which will be used entirely for the wholesale end of the business, for fruit and ice cream and confectionery. When the place is completed they will have one of finest stores of its kind in Alberta and about anything that a person can eat will be found at this store. They expect that the new addition will be completed about the 1st of February 1910, when taken into consideration that the Good Co. have come to Lethbridge less than two years ago, starting the day old in ice cream and confectionery and branching out in this way, they are to be congratulated on their enterprise.
